flights		whiskies
Small Batch	Good things come in small batches. Our house favorites are blended from just a handful of barrels.	Four Roses Small Batch Belle Meade Small Batch Rowan's Creek Small Batch	14
Whiskey 101	Compare twelve year old bottlings of Bourbon, Scotch, and Irish whiskies to get a sense of general differences in style and flavors.	Elijah Craig 12 Year Glenfiddich 12 Year Tullamore DEW 12 Year	15
Anywhere but Kentucky	One of the prevailing myths about whiskey is that to be called 'Bourbon' the juice must come from Kentucky. These fine Bourbons beg to differ.	High West American Prairie (UT) Dark Horse Reserve (KS) Hudson Four Grain (NY)	16
Scotch	These whiskies represent three main regions of Scotch production: the western island of Islay; the Highlands; and the north coast of Speyside.	Laphroaig 10 Year Cask Strength Old Pulteney 12 Year Craigellachie 13 Year	19
Irish	Three distinct expressions: creamy single pot still; fruity single malt; smoky, peated cask strength. This is why Irish eyes are smiling.	Redbreast 12 Year Knappogue Castle 14 Year Connemara Cask Strength	21
Rye	Old school rye is trendy right now, so get your selfie stick ready. First, a young rye/wheat blend; next a traditional high-rye (95%); finally one aged at least two years bottled straight from the barrel.	Journeyman Last Feather High West Rendezvous Michter's Barrel Strength	18
Multigrain	Corn and malted barley might be the prestige crops for whiskey production, but these distilleries are experimenting with non-traditional mashes.	Koval Oat Whiskey Bernheim Wheat Whiskey Still 630 Rally Point Rye	13
Evolution	A master distiller crafts very different whiskies from a single white dog. The large batch blends and the single barrel all start with the same juice.	Buffalo Trace Mash #1 White Dog Buffalo Trace Eagle Rare 10 Year Single Barrel	15
Past & Present	Limited. Harper discontinued sales in the States in the '80s, but the brand remained popular in Japan. We happened across some of the original to sip alongside their more recent bottlings.	I.W. Harper c. 1970's I.W. Harper c. 2017 I.W. Harper 15 Year	18
